Kirkpatrick fears long summer

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Residents of Kirkpatrick Homes are upset about what they say is inadequate police protection and fear that they are in for a long hot summer in light of an intensified outbreak of violence and disorderly conduct in the housing project.

"I don't know why they (Granite City police) don't call in the Madison County Sheriff's Department or something," said one resident. Troublemakers "have been breaking people's windows and hitting kids in the head, and the cops don't do anything about it."

The housing project remained a hot spot Wednesday night and police kept four cars through most of the night shift. Several arrests were made for minor offenses, largely illegal transportation of alcohol. That stemmed from persons sitting in or around cars drinking, police said.

"We've had a lot of problems out there recently, but it's not organized gang activity. They can't get along with each other well enough to get organized."

—Lt. Dave Ruebhausen

Lt. Dennis Joyce, the shift commander, said this morning he expects the extra police coverage at Kirkpatrick Homes to continue "until things settle down." He said problems there are numerous, but mostly minor.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said law enforcement in Kirkpatrick is becoming a serious problem and that he believes it may be time for the project to consider hiring its own security guards.

The low-income federal housing named for the late Mayor Marshall E. Kirkpatrick is operated by the Granite City Housing Authority. Authority officials could not be reached for comment.

"This is a city of 35,000 residents and we're talking about 451 units," Cruse said. "We're not equipped to keep officers full-time at a single housing project."

Police Chief Don Knight agreed the department doesn't have the manpower needed to keep officers posted at Kirkpatrick Homes.

"But we will if we need to," Knight said. "If I have to send a sergeant and a captain to stand on the corner I'll do it. We are not giving up control."

Cruse and Knight said that other housing authorities, especially in big cities, have hired their own security guards.

They said they are not sure it is fair to Granite City's taxpayers to commit so much of the police department's time and money to a single area.

"But no matter how poor these people may be, they still have rights," Knight said.

Cruse said he believes the housing authority is doing a good job of providing homes for truly needy persons. The mayor appoints the GCHA board.

"But before you know it some 'jackleg' has moved in with them (the needy who rented the apartment)," Cruse said. "The people causing the problems are not the people paying the rent."

Kirkpatrick Homes shows up virtually daily in police reports as the location of violent crimes, incidents of public intoxication and property damage, burglaries and domestic disputes.

This week, callers to the Press-Record expressed concerns that there is a problem.

Policeman accused of misconduct

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A police captain was suspended Tuesday pending a hearing on a misconduct charge filed by the chief of police.

Capt. Glenn Wright was suspended with pay by the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners pending a hearing before the board June 18 on the misconduct charge, according to Commissioner Dewey Melton. The hearing on the suspension lasted about three hours.

Wright is prohibited from talking to the press by police department rules. His attorney, John Papa of Granite City, said the charge is very non-specific, but revolves around the disappearance of a lawnmower from a storage area at the Street Department and alleged interference with a related investigation.

Sources said an internal investigation started after a riding lawnmower, taken as evidence in a case a year or more ago, was discovered missing several months ago when the owner came to reclaim it.

The mower had reportedly been in an area of the Street Department used for storing

Screwdriver assailant nailed

By Andy Siering

GRANITE CITY — A Granite City man was charged with attempted murder Tuesday after he allegedly stabbed another Granite City man several times with a screwdriver.

The man who did the stabbing allegedly had been surprised while committing a vehicle burglary.

Michael S. Valencia, 19, of the 2100 block of Lee Avenue was charged with attempted murder, aggravated battery and two counts of burglary.

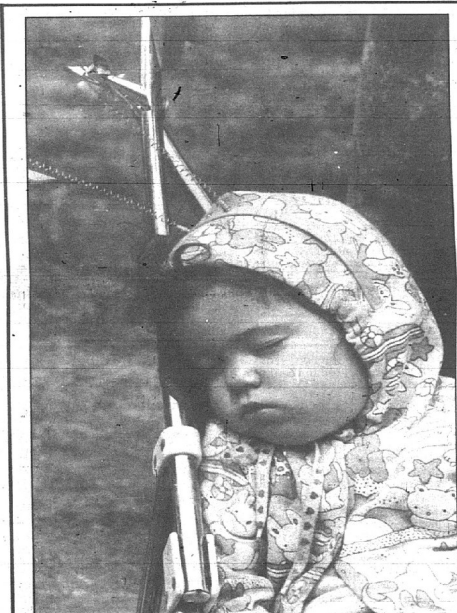

Police said Valencia stabbed Wesley Taylor, 25, of the 2100 block of Monroe Street at about 3:50 a.m. Sunday. Taylor told police he heard a noise outside his house and found Valencia hiding in Taylor's pickup truck. Earlier, Valencia had allegedly burglarized a vehicle that belonged to Jodi L. Gray of the 2200 block of Lincoln Avenue. Items taken from that vehicle were found on Monroe Street, as was the screwdriver used to stab Taylor.

Taylor was stabbed in the chest, belly, back and arm. He was listed in good condition Wednesday following surgery at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Valencia, who police found hiding under a back porch on Lee Avenue a few minutes after the attack, was transferred Wednesday to the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville and held in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Investors may have suffered big losses

By John D. Milazzo

EDWARDSVILLE — The recent rescue and sale of Madison County Federal Savings and Loan, based in Granite City, apparently did not leave every one with financial interests in the failed thrift fiscally unscathed.

While the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corporation protected the assets of depositors in the association, an undetermined number of investors were reportedly wiped out when the institution was placed under federal conservatorship in March 1989.

A prominent Granite City area businessman, who asked not to be identified, said Wednesday that he was one of numerous investors who bought blocks of stock when a decision was made by the association's board of directors in 1985 to go public as a means of raising more capital.

Roy Adreon, a representative for Resolution Trust Corp., the federal agency that ran the thrift from the spring of 1989 until its recent sale, said, "As with any company that bankrupts, the stockholders would lose. That's a risk they (stockholders) take when they buy the stock in the first place."

The source said he was

Law firms to merge tomorrow

GRANITE CITY — Several small law firms are merging tomorrow to form a full-service practice, two of the new firm's principals said Wednesday.

The firms are Goldenberg & Hendricks, Hopkins & Bilbrey and Randy Bono Ltd. The partners will become Mark Goldenberg, Scott Hendricks, John Hopkins, Mike Bilbrey and Randy Bono. The firm will also have three associate lawyers.

"Our office (at 1412 20th St., Granite City) will close down, effective Friday," Hopkins said. He said the merged firm — Bono, Goldenberg, Hopkins, Bilbrey and Hendricks — will have offices in Granite City (the current offices of Goldenberg & Hendricks at 2132 Pontoon Road) and 65 E. Ferguson, Wood River (Bono's office).

Hopkins and Hendricks said the merged firm will offer a full range of legal services except for family law such as divorce and child custody. Goldenberg and Hendricks will handle the bulk of the firm's business law, Hopkins said.

Bilbrey and Hendricks will specialize in criminal

Ralph and Charlie's to open soon

PONTON BEACH — Ralph and Charlie's Restaurant in Madison was destroyed by fire nearly a year ago, but owner Dave Thebeau said it will soon reopen in the village's Oakmont Shopping Center.

"Every time someone else asks, I tell them 30 days, so I'm always giving myself at least one more day," he said. "But I expect it to be open in early July."

Thebeau said the new restaurant will cover

10,000 square feet, with seating for 200 in the dining area, seating for 100 in the bar area and seating for 100 more in a banquet area. An outside patio will seat an additional 60 people, he said.

Thebeau said he expects the hours of the new

Ralph and Charlie's to be "pretty much the same" as they were in Madison.

The fire that destroyed the Madison location apparently started when a steak broiler caught on fire while being cleaned.

Most residents will save on phone bills, Bell predicts

By Ed Gurney
Staff writer

COLLINSVILLE — Illinois Bell customers in the Metro East area will get a chance to see whether they will pay more or less under a new rate plan that goes into effect July 1.

Analyses of each customer's last four months of calling charges will be mailed about June 20, according to Illinois Bell spokesman Mary McCormick.

Most customers will receive good news, the company estimates. Figures show that more than 70 percent of residential customers and more than 80 percent of business customers in Metro East will see lower bills.

The typical residential customer will save about $2 a month and the typical business customer will save about $3 a month.

In July, the monthly flat rate for calling will be removed from bills; customers will pay only for the calls they make.

Residential calls within the new local calling area will cost 5.6 cents or less no matter how long the call lasts.

The new calling area includes most of St. Clair and Madison counties. The exceptions are small areas such as Highland and Dupon not served by Bell.

So after July 1, it will cost no more to call from Belleville to Alton, or Collinsville to Edwardsville, or Granite City to other cities in Metro East, than it will cost to call someone across the street.

Two injured in nine traffic accidents

Nine traffic accidents occurring May 25 resulted in injury to individuals in two of the mishaps.

Mary L. Sykes, 71, of the 2500 block of Benton Street was hurt at 9:30 p.m. and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center after she reportedly backed up her 1990 Oldsmobile auto and struck a pickup truck owned by Jeffrey C. Reiter, 33, of the 2500 block of Edison Avenue.

Reiter said his truck was stopped at the curb with the engine running in the 2800 block of State Street when the crash occurred.

Bettie J. Brake, 41, of the 2900 block of Forest Avenue suffered a minor injury but declined immediate medical attention at 9:15 p.m. Friday.

Tina M. Million, 27, of the 1700 block of Maple Street said she was driving her auto east on East 23rd Street when a car operated by Brake came into the Lincoln Avenue intersection and the accident occurred.

Brake was charged with disobeying a stop sign. Million and three young children in her car were not hurt.

Granite City

Gold jewelry stolen

Several pieces of gold jewelry were stolen from a closet at the home of Susan Wykoff in the 2600 block of Pine Street, she reported May 25. Among the missing items were a 24-inch rope chain worth $1,050, a 30-inch herringbone necklace valued at $1,050, an 18-inch herringbone chain worth $780, a 16-inch herringbone chain valued at $650 and a 30-inch add-a-bead gold necklace worth $100.

2 trespassing arrests

Police were called to a disturbance at 1:10 a.m. May 26 at Sammy's Tavern, 921 Niedringhaus Ave., where Leo Nighossian, owner-operator, reported a fight had broken out when he attempted to remove Robert G. Theis, 31, of the 2100 block of Lee Avenue. He said Theis had been barred from entering the tavern months ago.

Nighossian said he asked Theis to leave and the man refused, with an argument ensuing. Mark J. Theis, 27, of the Lee address allegedly intervened, was told to leave and refused, the bar owner said.

Robert Theis and Mark Theis were arrested and each was charged with criminal trespass.

Burglar gets car radio

Raymond Fry of Ewing, Ill., told police he was visiting a friend at Kirkpatrick Homes during the night of May 17-18 when somebody entered his car and removed an AM/FM stereo radio and cassette player and 20 cassette tapes.

Furniture, clothes taken

Jerry Spinner of Granite City told police somebody burglarized an apartment from which he had recently moved. The burglary took place between May 15-20. Taken were two night stands, a dresser, two bags of clothes and a pair of boots.

House burglarized

Kit A. Gitcho, the owner of a vacant residence in the 2700 block of Myrtle Avenue, reported somebody forced open the back door of the house during the night of May 20-21 and took a window unit air conditioner valued at $800.

Wife hit, man charged

Larry D. Turner, 34, of the 1600 block of Kirkpatrick Homes was arrested for battery May 22 for allegedly punching his wife. When police arrived at about 4:40 a.m., Turner ran away. He was apprehended a few minutes later and was released on $52 bail.

Charged for striking man

Tracy L. Morrison, 21, of the 2100 block of Bern Avenue was charged with aggravated assault May 20 for allegedly striking another man with a baseball bat.

Morrison allegedly struck Larry E. Mueller, 24, in front of Mueller's house in the 2900 block of Willow Avenue at about 8:30 p.m. Three other men were with Morrison during the incident but the others were not charged.

All four drove off at high speed when witnesses started to gather. The four were apprehended at a residence in the 4500 block of Walter Avenue and three were not charged.

Mueller was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was treated and released.

Fined on two charges

Madison

Arrested on gun charge

Ricky L. Rose, 38, of the 2300 block of Hodges Avenue in Granite City was arrested on the evening of May 26 for carrying a gun.

Police got a tip that a man had been seen walking on the street with a pistol in a holster on his hip. They stopped an auto matching the description of a car the man had entered. Rose was driving.

Police alleged finding a fully loaded .38 caliber revolver in the car and an empty holster on Rose. Charged with unlawful use of a weapon and not having a firearm owner's identification card, he was released on $204 cash bail.

Booked for hitting wife

David N. Brown, 27, of 900 block of Alton Avenue was arrested May 19 for battery for allegedly punching and partly choking his wife, Pamela S. Brown. He was released on $102 cash bail.

Arrested at truck stop

Denise Walker, 30, of East St. Louis was arrested at 12:28 a.m. May 24 at Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza, 699 Illinois Route 203, and charged with criminal trespass. She was released on a notice to appear in court.

Purse taken from house

Theresa Holland of the 1400 block of Second Street told police somebody took her purse from on top of the refrigerator during the evening of May 17. Inside the purse were $446 worth of food stamps and $140 in cash.

Resisting arrest charged

Catherine D. Plannette, 27, of Cahokia was arrested at 11:42 p.m. May 22 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Madison police halted the driver in the 900 block of McCambridge Avenue. Plannette also was charged with resisting arrest, battery, driving while her license was suspended and disobeying a traffic control device. She was released the next day on $600 cash bail.

Arrested after accident

Lisa A. Turner, 36, of the 1700 block of Minerva Avenue was arrested at 8:02 p.m. May 23 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol after she was involved in a car accident at 12th Street and McCambridge Avenue, Madison.

Turner allegedly turned from 12th onto McCambridge in front of a car driven by Freeman D. Richards of Granite City.

Besides the alcohol charge, Turner was given traffic citations for failure to yield to avoid an accident, driving in violation of restrictions on her license and illegal transportation of alcohol. She was released on $102 cash bail and her driver's license.

Arrested on 3 charges

William J. Heath, 34, of Ridgeway, Ill., was arrested at 12:18 a.m. May 26 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol after he allegedly drove down a one-way street. He was arrested on Ohio Avenue near Illinois 203. Heath was also charged with making an improper left turn and with improper lane use. He was released on $102 cash bail.

Simon backing D.C. statehood

By Jason Moody
Staff writer

WASHINGTON — Sen. Paul Simon and the Rev. Jesse Jackson may be putting aside their wounds from the 1988 presidential race to unite behind the cause of Washington, D.C., statehood.

Former rivals for the '88 Democratic presidential nomination, the two appeared together at a late-May Capitol Hill press conference to endorse a concept that has traditionally met staunch opposition from Republicans, including President George Bush.

"It is simply unfair, unseemly and illogical for District of Columbia residents to be the hosts of Congress and yet have no voting representation in either the House or the Senate," said Simon, who also joined Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., to introduce the statehood legislation.

Staking out ground on an issue that has long been important to Jackson, Simon appeared to be taking steps to improve a relationship that had grown sour after Simon's refusal to release the delegates from his Illinois presidential primary victory in 1988.

Although the delegates would not automatically have gone to Rev. Jackson, who placed second in the Illinois primary, the event has been the source of friction between the two Democrats.

Jackson, a former Illinois resident who is now a permanent resident of Washington, D.C., could be first in line to run for the U.S. Senate if the statehood legislation passes.

The Washington area is regarded as heavily Democratic. Immediately after the press conference, Simon's opponent in this year's U.S. Senate race, U.S. Rep. Lynn Martin, R-Loves Park, released a statement criticizing the proposal for raising false hopes among the city's residents.

"The Kennedy-Simon bill holds out the false promise of extraordinary political empowerment at the expense of some very fundamental precepts of the U.S. Constitution and historical guidelines used for granting statehood," Martin said.

Martin also questioned Simon's motives, saying Simon still is trying to make up for an image problem among blacks that is connected to the '88 delegates dispute.

"It's quite possible he is trying to court Jesse Jackson because many African Americans are still upset about Simon refusing to release his delegates in 1988," said Cathy Lyden, Martin's spokeswoman. "His motivation surely doesn't have anything to do with the state of Illinois."

Meanwhile, two women's groups have endorsed Simon rather than Martin. They are the National Abortion Rights Action League and the Illinois Chapter of the National Organization for Women.

Hospice staff talks with Dutch visitor

A psychologist/lecturer/college professor from the Netherlands was a recent guest of Hospice of Madison County, a department of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., Granite City.

Herman de Monnick, Ph.D., visited with members of the department after attending a conference in New Orleans on death education.

Charles Corr, a Hospice of Madison County volunteer and professor of philosophy at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, brought de Monnick to the Metro East area to speak to students and to share thoughts and ideas with the Hospice staff at SEMC.

Corr teaches courses and workshops at SIUE on death and dying.

During his visit to the medical center, de Monnick participated in group discussions that centered on the education that nurses and volunteers receive in dealing with death and dying.

He hopes to set up similar educational courses back home, where he already has developed programs for social workers at Social and Information Services at Groningen, a technical school in the Netherlands.

Hospice of Madison County, 798-3399, provides a program of home care for persons with terminal illnesses.

Physicians, social workers, clergy and volunteers seek to improve the quality of remaining life for both patient and family, by controlling the illness' symptoms and providing other support. Bereavement follow-up is provided as long as it is needed.

Bridge change delays bus riders

Illinois commuters riding Bi-State buses to downtown St. Louis spend a few more minutes on the bus since the Eads Bridge was closed to bus and truck traffic, said Bi-State Development Agency Executive Director Jack Leary.

The city of St. Louis, owner of the historic bridge's road deck, closed Eads on May 22 to vehicles weighing five tons or more.

A fully-loaded bus can weigh 17 tons, it was noted by a Bi-State spokesman.

St. Louis officials closed the bridge after discovering significant deterioration on one of the eastern ramps approaching the bridge.

The Eads Bridge was Bi-State's main route into downtown from Illinois. Now those buses have been re-routed to either the Martin Luther King Jr. Bridge or the Poplar Street Bridge.

"Passengers may encounter a few additional minutes of travel time during rush hours due to the heavy traffic on these bridges," Leary said.

APA urging, 'Adopt a cat'

GRANITE CITY — Adopt-a-Cat Month will be observed in June by the Association for the Protection of Animals.

Efforts are being made nationwide this spring to secure permanent homes for lost and abandoned cats now residing in America's animal shelters.

For the 16th consecutive year, the American Humane Association and more than 1,000 animal shelters are among those uniting to encourage feline adoptions and promote lifelong safety precautions to protect pets.

Millions of healthy animals arriving at shelters each year have only a slim chance of survival; 28 percent of shelter cats are placed in homes; others are killed at some, not all, shelters.

The Association for the Protection of Animals in Granite City is making adoptions extra enticing by offering complimentary adoption packages to anyone who adopts a cat or kitten during June. The package includes "The Morris Method" book of cat care, a supply of 9-Lives coupons and a sample of 9-Lives Cat Food for the adopted cat's first dinner.

The APA is located at 5000 Old Alton Road. Adoption hours are from 9 a.m. to noon daily, including weekends; and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday weekdays. For more information, interested persons may call the shelter at 931-7030 or write to P.O. Box 1311, Granite City 62040.

Swim program in 16th year

On June 7, 8 and 9 the training of volunteers will kick off the beginning of the 16th year of the Handicapped Swim Program in the Tri-City Chapter, American Red Cross.

The purpose of the program is to teach the physically handicapped to swim or to swim better, and to use this medium to provide the participants with freedom and mobility they are otherwise denied.

The program is available free of charge to any qualifying individual in the Quad City area.

A physician's certification is required. The program will be conducted at a private swimming pool in Granite City. Classes will be held June 11 through July 6, Monday through Friday.

Volunteer assistants are needed. Over the past 15 years of the program, volunteers from all walks of life — high school and college students, grandparents, retirees and others have participated as volunteers to assist the swimming students.

Minimum age for volunteers is 15; there is no maximum age. Training is required.

Registration is limited and is offered on a first-come, first-served basis. Those wishing to participate in the program as volunteers or swimming students may contact the local Red Cross office at 452-7184.

Graduates sought for reunion

A 25-year class reunion is being planned for 1965 graduates of Granite City High School. The reunion will be held on July 21 at St. Gregory's Hall, off West Poplar Road in Granite City.

Invitations were mailed in March. Response has been good, but the reunion committee still is having difficulty locating many classmates, according to Barbara (Hunter) Monroe.

The following classmates have apparently relocated in the past five years and have not been reached, Monroe said:

Robert P. Armstrong, Lana Burton Melton, Cathy Coe Causser, Kathy Darner Quinn, Karen Farley, Keith Garner, Barbara Griffith Mills, Bernie Hancock, John Hooper, Nona Jarvis Stein, Mike Jenne, Kenneth Johnson, Danny Jones, James A. Labonosky, Catherine Parker, Susan Powers Palumbo.

Also, Ronald McBride, Daniel Messey, Eddie G. Mathis, Phillip Mimmer, Sandra Neavalls Hagopian, Richard Podnor, Bill Prewett, David Sloan, Linda Spence, Sharon Strauser Trigg, Joann Summerford Gunning, Linda Thompson Sexton, Red Tomlin, John Voyles, Pat Walker Watkins, James Wittvrongel, Sharon York Merrick and Susan Young Hazelwood.

If anyone has information to help locate members of the class of 1965, Monroe can be called at 877-3810.

Cardiac emergency fund helps patients pay for medication

You have had a heart attack recently. After your discharge from the hospital, you barely can keep your head above water when you find your medicine is going to cost more than $100 a month.

For years, some people would risk more health problems by going without their medication, or they would be admitted to the medical center so they could get their medication. This created many unaffordably high hospitalization charges.

As an answer to part of the problem, nurses and social workers at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, established the Cardiac Emergency Fund eight years ago.

The emergency fund helps people diagnosed with cardiac diseases who can't afford to pay for necessary items like medication.

Laura Tungett, RN, an exercise specialist with the Cardio Pulmonary Rehab Program, the fund has helped more than 75 patients by providing money for medicine and, on a few occasions, funding for window air-conditioners or fans for heart patients who are in need.

"Before we had the Cardiac Emergency Fund, some people were being re-admitted to the medical center for treatment of cardiac problems because they didn't have money for their medication," Tungett said.

According to Bob Turck, SEMC social worker, the nurses and social workers talk with people who don't have any other resources for paying for their prescriptions or other necessary items.

"I only try to use the fund in the event of an emergency when there are no other means for paying for a patient's medication," Turck said.

The Cardiac Emergency Fund is supported by money raised annually during the Heart Month Walk-a-thon at SEMC.

This year, 27 people participated in the Walk-a-thon and raised $980 for the American Heart Association and the SEMC Cardiac Emergency Fund.

The fund is open to all patients with cardiac problems who are in need of medication.

DUI system is not working

If the case of Granite City area attorney Paul Pratt is any test of the prosecution of allegedly drunken drivers in Madison County, then we say the system needs some help.

When you consider that last year our county was next to last in the state in getting licenses suspended for drunken driving, it's even more apparent that more cooperation, education and guts are needed to fix that system.

Since 1986 Pratt has been charged three times with driving under the influence. In all three cases he got off. In one incident he was also charged with resisting arrest for scuffling with a Pontoon Beach policeman. Prosecutors dropped charges in two of the cases and an associate judge acquitted him in one case.

In the most recent case, police said Pratt refused to take a field sobriety test. However, a judge ruled that Pratt had not refused to take the test, it was just that muscle and back problems prevented him from performing the test.

The same judge, Robert Hennessey of Granite City, also ruled that a police officer's testimony that he smelled alcohol on Pratt's breath wasn't enough evidence to warrant a suspension of Pratt's license.

Had the officer known the outcome in advance, he might have opted to ask Pratt to take a hospital blood test before letting him go. Back problems would never have prevented that.

Pratt, a major contributor to the Democratic Party in Madison County and one of the most successful personal injury attorneys in the state, found holes in a system where there should be no holes.

If state law says that refusal to submit to a blood-alcohol test mandates a six-month suspension of driver privileges, then there should be no way around that requirement. Pratt's name rates more highly with the judiciary than the average Joe, but he should never be allowed to beat the odds three times when the average Joe would never get that far.

In 1989, 77 percent of the people arrested in Madison County for driving under the influence or for refusing a breath-analysis test were suspended from the state's summary suspension law. That compares with 90 percent statewide, according to the secretary of state's office. If the law is working elsewhere, it should be working in Madison County.

This paper recently discontinued its policy of printing the names of drivers whose licenses had been suspended, when it was discovered that so many drivers on the lists received from the state had already gotten their local courts to reinstate those licenses. Suspensions were rescinded by judicial orders in 23 percent of Madison County cases last year, compared with 10 percent statewide.

DUI convictions in Madison County were up 13 percent last year from the previous year, but the county conviction rate was well below the 20 percent rate statewide. Only 13 percent of DUI arrests ended in convictions in Madison County in 1989, less than one in five people. The percentage of people who are arrested and actually lose driving privileges has been steadily declining in recent years in this county.

State's Attorney Bill Haine admits there is a problem, which is the proper first step in bolstering the license suspension rate for those who refuse, for whatever reason, to take blood-alcohol or field sobriety tests.

We now wait to see what steps he'll take.

At last, a sewer remedy?

If every dark cloud has a silver lining, should gold sewers with a dark past have a plastic lining?

They aren't really gold, but Granite City's Nameoki area sewers were called gold-plated by those who thought the price was too high. Citizens assailed the plan at a hearing in the 1950s, but the pipes were installed anyway.

The sewers broke often due to a later rise in groundwater and have cost many millions for repairs. Fortunately, there is real hope that the $4.8 million lining work authorized May 22 will provide a remedy, at long last.

'If I won the lottery ...'

What would you do if you won the lottery?

An interesting thought, huh? With millions to gain and little to lose, we all daydream about hitting the big one. Racking up the right numbers and seeing them circled on that tiny little ticket. How many times have we said, "If I win the lottery I'd ..."

You'd what? Pay your bills? Party your heart out? Disappear?

I listened recently when the Illinois Lottery was putting up some pretty high numbers, and everybody in the newsroom was investing in the game. They let their feelings be known.

"If I win, I won't be here Monday," one staff member said.

"If I win I'll give you a call, but only if my wife makes me," said another.

"If I had enough money I'd buy this paper," said yet another. "Come to think of it, if I had that much money why would I want to?"

Pretty loyal bunch, wouldn't you say?

One of the more pragmatic of the group need a series of catcalls when he admitted: "If I win, I'll still come in Monday. My life won't change."

Yeah, Sure. And I'm the next cover boy for Wheaties.

What would I do? I'll tell you what I'd do. I'd blow this place so fast they'd think Hurricane Hugo was back. I'd fly so fast Carl Icahn would want me for a pilot. I'd do anything to find shoe sales were thin. I'd ...

Actually I'd probably go to find a good accountant and a crooked lawyer. And still come in to work. Boo, hiss.

I'd also be quick to tell the family, but careful so as not to cause angst.

Dennis Grubaugh

What would I say first, bursting in the front door? "Hey, kids. We can bail out mom's lay-away!"

Or, "Honey, you've been wanting to go to Vegas; now's your chance. I'll see you when I get back from Tahiti!"

"Honey, I shrank the debt!"

Ask people what they'd do with untold millions and you get the clearest thing what they'd do. Then they babble continuously.

Since she's usually a pretty good gauge on such things, I asked the cleaning lady what she'd do. I liked her reply.

"First I'd go on vacation," she said. "Then I'd buy me a house that didn't have anything wrong with it; then I'd send the kids away to boarding school and only let them come home at Christmas."

Sounds reasonable.

I asked another one of my employees. The one thing I remember is she said she'd never need another man.

I'm not sure I liked that one.

As I write this, that $42 million Illinois Lotto prize still hasn't been claimed from a few weeks ago, though I understand one solitary person holds the ticket. Enough to cause the daydreamers to go wild.

Think I'll recheck my numbers.

Begin recycling trash now

To the editor:

Earth Day has come and gone but we still have our trash with us. 82 percent of Illinois' waste still ends up in landfills; only 6 percent is recycled.

Even so, I think the citizens of Illinois can take heart. The goal to change our throwaway habits are gradually getting lined up. Motion will come.

First, with the passage of the Solid Waste Act of 1986, our state took some crucial initial steps. The Act established as state policy a "waste management hierarchy" of five approaches to handling waste.

In order of preference, these methods are: reduce the volume of waste at its source; recycle and reuse; incinerate solid wastes to recover energy; incinerate solid waste to reduce volume; and, dispose of solid wastes in landfills.

Second, Madison County in conjunction with St. Clair and Monroe counties just held a public hearing on the state-mandated local plan for handling solid wastes. The plan incorporates all five of the above methods.

You and I, as ordinary citizens, can participate immediately in the first two methods, the two most ideal methods.

We can reduce waste at the source — in our homes, offices, churches, clubs and so forth.

We can recycle aluminum cans, glass, some plastics and newspapers.

We can practice these two ideal methods at little or no cost to ourselves. The other three ways of handling waste are costly.

Incineration and landfilling are essential to a complete waste management plan. But anything that was not necessary in the first place, like excess packaging and throw-aways, should never arrive at the incinerator or landfill.

Manufacturers will need time to adjust. The public deserves ample time and opportunity to learn how to reduce waste, to establish habits of reusing and recycling, in other words, to learn the conservation ethic.

Western Europeans and the Japanese produce only half the amount of waste per person that we Americans do.

Prior to the time the County Board must move to the costlier methods of handling solid waste, let's be sure we have reduced the amount of that solid waste to an absolute minimum.

Now is the time to speak to your County Board member. The period for public comment on the plan being considered for adoption ends June 9.

Control city's vicious dogs

To the editor:

Why don't owners of vicious dogs start taking some action to control or restrain their dogs?

According to the City Ordinance:

"A dog is considered vicious if it has attacked any human or animal. (The attack cannot be provoked.)"

"All vicious dogs should be muzzled and/or leashed when off the owner's property."

On April 9, our dog, Miss Lucky, was viciously attacked by a pit bull which jumped over our foot fence.

Miss Lucky did not even have a chance to defend herself. The veterinarian said that her back and pelvic bones were broken and her intestines ripped apart. She could not be saved.

He said that she looked as though she had been run over. This was the pit bull's second attack on a dog.

We are writing this in hope that owners of a vicious dog will become aware of the damage their dog can do. If they are willing to take the responsibility of owning a vicious dog, then they should be able to take the responsibility of controlling and restraining the dog.

And maybe the ordinance should be revised regarding the number of times a dog can attack before its termination. Now a dog must have three reported attacks before it is terminated.

If a dog attacks once, chances are it will attack another human or animal again. And who knows who the victim will be next time?

Something needs to be done.

Participation is 'gratifying'

To the editor:

I want to thank you and your newspaper for the support you have given our Law Enforcement Recognition Dinner.

The Crime Prevention and Awareness Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce has enjoyed a groundswell of participation from the entire community for this important event.

It is gratifying to see so many businesses and individuals that not only provided the financial means but attended the function to demonstrate their respect and appreciation to those who play such an important role in our public safety.

It was our desire that these deserving law enforcement officers receive proper recognition at least one evening per year.

The participation of such large numbers from the Tri-Cities, we feel, projects a positive attitude to these officers and our fellow citizens that they are an integral part of providing a good community in which to work and live.

You, too, have done more than your share to make this effort a success. Thanks again for your support.

City needs a recycling site

To the editor:

Once again Granite City is on the cutting edge of progress. I'd like to know why a city of this size does not have a recycling center that accepts any and all recyclables.

I really got a laugh out of the alderman's comment about locating a recycling center on Madison Avenue near the Madison/Granite City border. He said that is a main entrance to the city and a recycling center would be an eyesore.

We're not talking about Ladue here, we're talking about a filthy industrial area. Have you seen the sidewalk along Granite City Steel on this scenic entrance to our city? There is about an inch of dirt covering the whole sidewalk for about four blocks.

If we are concerned about what out-of-town visitors think, why don't we get Granite City Steel to clean up that area and keep it clean?

I have started recycling everything I can. Driving up to the Edwardsville Recycling Center is going to get real old.

If we want people to get involved in recycling, we need a centrally located place here.

Quinn favors tax reductions

To the editor:

In recent weeks, Gregory W. Baize, a former member of Gov. James Thompson's cabinet, has attacked my proposal to cut taxes on homeowners, farmers, senior citizens, wage-earners and working parents with kids.

My proposal — called the Illinois "Taxpayers' Initiative" — would provide across-the-board income tax reductions and property tax rollbacks to the people who need help the most — average taxpayers who live from paycheck to paycheck.

Contrary to Mr. Baize's distortions, the Taxpayers' Initiative does not call for the unilateral elimination of the sales tax exemption on farm machinery and gasoline. Instead, the Taxpayers' Initiative calls for cutting taxes on family farmers and all families by $200 million.

In the past 14 years under Gov. Thompson, average Illinois taxpayers have seen their taxes increase by 128 percent, the result of 21 different tax hikes.

At the same time, taxpayers have been forced to pay for huge tax breaks to some of the most profitable corporations on the face of the earth. Last year, for example, Sears Roebuck received an $80 million handout from Illinois taxpayers and a 20-year property tax abatement.

There is something fundamentally wrong with the Illinois tax system when hard-pressed Illinois families are told to pay higher gas taxes, property taxes and income taxes while big corporations are allowed to pay less than their fair share.

Real tax reform means reducing imprudent spending, closing loopholes and using the resulting revenue for significant property and income tax relief.

Average taxpayers across the state want more take-home pay. Working men and women are much better off with lower property taxes than in continuing an unfair tax code that looks like Swiss cheese with all its loopholes.

After years of Thompson-Baize tax increases, it's time to change the channel.

Let's end the special-interest government in Springfield and start a taxpayer movement to roll back unfair tax increases on Illinois workers and farmers.

'Facts on drugs' set Saturday

Granite City's first "Get the Facts on Drugs Day" will be held on June 2 at St. Elizabeth Catholic School, Johnson and Pontoon roads. Continuous programs will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The event will be presented by Granite City Elks Lodge 1063, with funding provided through the Granite City Joint Council-DATE Committee by a grant from Illinois Department of Children and Family Services Positive Youth Development.

All ages are invited to attend. Different displays will be for adults and junior and senior high students, and a fun area will be devoted to younger children.

Bill Weathers was the honored guest at a 30-year anniversary party given by Prudential Insurance at Rusty's Restaurant in Edwardsville.

His wife, Pat, and sons, Billy, Robert, Chris and Dan and Jody Lipe, along with fellow workers from the Alton and Belleville districts, also attended.

He was presented fishing equipment and a ring from his wife.

A Pentecost Quiet Retreat will be held June 1-3 at the Canale, with the Rev. George Billings, CM, from Kenrick Seminary. From June 5-10, a Right Brain Retreat, an experience in creative ways of praying, will be given by the Rev. Larry Hein, SJ, from New Orleans and Sister Pam Falkowski of the Canale.

The St. Elizabeth Parish Picnic will be held June 8-10 at 2300 Pontoon Road.

The picnic will feature carnival rides, a beer stand, big top games for children, carriage rides, lemonade, a poker stand, a Big 6 wheel, instant bingo, snow cones, popcorn, soda, pizza, funnel cakes and nachos. There will also be a quilt raffle and cake booth.

An outdoor food booth, sponsored by the Men's Club, will feature sausage, hot dogs, shish kebabs, and Italian or barbecue beef.

On June 8, dancing will be from 7 to 11 p.m., with the J.J. Polka Lovers. On June 9, "B" Street Express will perform. The raffle for the 1990 Oldsmobile Calais will be held.

Nannie Floyd, sister of Mary Reed and Willa Mae Reed, returned to her home in Mount City, Ill., after spending two weeks visiting them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill (Ora) Sweigert accompanied her home.

Colonial Haven Nursing Home patients were visited by members of the Pontoon Baptist Church.

A short devotional was given by Paul Stayduhar, followed by hymns by Ralph and Juanita Craycraft, Sylvia Maassman, Linda Boswell, Hilda Fowler, Gary Chaney, Pete and Lucy Adams, Bob Krause, Shirley White, Frances Bruke, Kevin Kerr, Ryan and Josh Epps, Melanie Johnson and Randy Jackson.

Family does double on Mom's Day

Larry and Delores (Soboleski) Brinker celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with family members on Mother's Day.

The dinner was hosted by their children, Sharon, Valerie and Philip.

The Brinkers were married on May 9, 1965, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Madison, with the Rev. Sylvester Micek officiating.

Attending the celebration were: their parents, Stanley and Pauline Soboleski and Les and Marie Brinker; Stan Soboleski and children, Aimee, Lisa and Jonathan; Robert and Nancy Brinker and son, Joseph; Fred and Mary Ann Black; Michael Brinker; Adelaide Nager; Bernice Barney; David and Dana Brinker and children, Dawn, Julie, Jared, Kristi and Matthew; and Don and Jan Brinker.

Their son, Eric, was unable to attend, but called from the University of Wyoming.

Glenn and Paula Martin of Madison are announcing the birth of their third child, born on May 18 at Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

The infant was named Sandra Lee and weighed 6 pounds, 10 ounces, and was 18 1/2 inches long. She joins Joseph, 3, and Anita Marie, 2.

Grandparents are Leonard Martin of Madison and Ruth Smith of Granite City.

The Quilting Club met on May 23 at the home of Catherine Measki for an afternoon of games.

Dessert was served to Vera Sikora, Mary Venorsky, Marie Szymek, Catherine Orris and Katie Suech.

Plans are being finalized for St. Mary's 60th annual Parish Picnic to be held the weekend of June 15-17.

A carnival ride matinee will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. June 17. Norman and Mary Marler will be in charge.

Chicken dinners will be served at Engelbert Hall, beginning at 11:30 a.m. The kitchen chairman is Vera Sikora, to be assisted by Mary Ann Bunk and Rosalie Stern. The dining room chairmen are Janet Werner and Bea Stenitzer.

An 11 a.m. Polka Mass also is being discussed.

Bingo will be played at 7:30 each evening, with Tony Romanic in charge.

River fish will be featured on Friday. Al and Lucille Mossa will prepare the food.

The Madison High School Class of 1970 will be holding its 20-year class reunion on Aug. 4 at the Holiday Inn in Collinsville.

Several members of the class have not been located and the reunion committee is asking for help, said Donna (Wargin) Kostet.

Anyone having information on graduates of the class is asked to call Kostet at 878-5637.

Couple of guys named Thompson have done much for Metro East

A couple of men named Thompson, Ronald and James, have done a lot for the Metro East region, including its auto traffic.

They were the subjects of news stories this month, and I'll utilize that as a basis to review some of their accomplishments.

BOARD CHAIRMAN and president of General Railroad Equipment and Services Inc., Dr. Ronald L. Thompson was the commencement speaker for State Community College's graduation May 12 in East St. Louis.

Before opening General Railroad, he was president and principal provider of consulting services for R.L. Thompson and Associates Inc., Seattle; general manager of Puget Sound Ferries Supply Company Inc., Seattle; and chairman and chief executive officer of Evaluation Technologies Inc., Arlington, Va.

Prior to that, he was assistant professor, Old Dominion University Graduate School of Business Administration, Department of Marketing, Norfolk, Va.

research associate and associate professor, Virginia State College, Bureau of Economic Research and Development, Petersburg, Va.; and lecturer and director of community services, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

RON THOMPSON EARNED a bachelor of business administration degree (with distinction) and a master of science degree in agricultural economics from the University of Michigan.

He then earned a doctor of philosophy degree in agricultural economics, farm management, small business management and marketing from Michigan State University, East Lansing.

He is a board member of the Southwestern Illinois Leadership Council, Washington University in St. Louis, Citizens for Modern Transit, Downtown St. Louis, Commerce Bank of St. Louis, St. Louis Urban League and St. Louis Children's Hospital.

HE HAS SERVED as honorary chairman, United Negro College walkathon; member, Task

Bill Winter

Force on Municipal Distress and the Illinois Economic Board, appointed by Gov. James Thompson and confirmed by the Illinois Senate; and chairman, St. Louis Mississippi River Bridge Panel, appointed by Gov. Thompson and Missouri Gov. John Ashcroft.

He has received numerous awards, including: National Minority Entrepreneur of the Year (1989) awarded by the U.S. Department of Commerce and presented by President George Bush; Kool Achiever Award, business category, Brown and Williamson Tobacco Corp.; Howard E. Woods Award for Most Outstanding Minority Entrepreneur in St. Louis; and the Cornerstone of St. Louis award by the Regional Commerce and Growth Association.

THE SUCCESSFUL EFFORT to convert the deteriorating Martin Luther King Jr. Bridge (from city ownership and tolls) to a structurally strong, free bridge that helps link the state/federal highway system was led by both Thompsons, Ron and Jim.

The honorary degree of doctor of humane letters will be conferred on retiring Gov. James R. Thompson at the June 9 commencement of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The SIU Board approved the award May 10 in recognition of "Gov. Thompson's dedicated and steadfast service to the people of Illinois."

"His leadership has guided the state and its people through difficult economic times and through contentious issues," the university said.

"HIS CAREER REFLECTS an unswerving and unselfish commitment to public service, and a willingness to work diligently for the betterment of others while setting aside opportunities for personal advancement.

"Gov. Thompson led the state in adopting an income tax increase to finance educational programs and facilities, and to re-establish a solid fiscal foundation that will assure the vitality of our schools, colleges and universities for the future," SIU said.

The governor also is cited for "solving the myriad problems facing a populous, industrial and agricultural state, by taking positions in the public interest even when (they were) politically unpopular."

"UNDERSTANDING THAT the economic prosperity of the state is central to the well-being of its citizens, he instituted programs to rebuild and improve the transportation and public services infrastructure of the state and its communities, to attract new and retain existing businesses, and to retain and develop displaced workers."

The state improved programs for children and families, increased mental health services, and provided tax relief to the elderly. Thompson also is praised for progress on the environment, prisons, drug use and law enforcement.

He received degrees from the University of Illinois at Chicago and Washington University in St. Louis and completed the juris doctorate degree at Northwestern University, Evanston.

STARTING HIS CAREER in 1959 as an assistant state's attorney of Cook County, he was appointed in 1964 as associate professor of law at Northwestern.

He was U.S. attorney for northern Illinois for four years and was in private practice in Chicago when he was elected governor in 1976.

Rumer, general director of CWU and speaker at the conference, and Janice Lane, immediate past president of CWU who was in charge of installation of officers. In the photo at right, President Mae Lee and Ola Jones, retiring Southwestern Area chairman, both of the Quad City CWU, standing by the quilt unit made and took to the State Assembly. The quilt was donated to DOVE, a center for battered and abused women in Decatur. The theme of the conference was "Weave Us Together in His Image." Dorothy Trippel, chairman of Dwight Chapel Project, gave an update on CWU's proposed chapel for the Dwight (Ill.) Correctional Center for Women.

Nameoki Women end '90 club year

The Nameoki Women's Club met at Charlie's First Season Restaurant at noon May 16 for the last meeting of the 1989-90 club year. President Mary McCallum led the group in their Pledge of Allegiance.

After the luncheon, the group was entertained by Mary Ruth Bitzer who performed as "Mable Pearl" Bitzer is from Collinsville.

Elsie Rodell installed the newly elected officers in a candlelight ceremony. The new officers are:

President — Mable Gertsch; vice president — Marian Shelton; recording secretary — Dolores Allen; corresponding secretary — Mildred Branding; and treasurer — Bernadine Cooley.

Each new officer and retiring officer was given a fresh flower corsage by Rodell. A past president's pin was awarded Mary McCallum for serving the past two years.

McCallum conducted the business meeting and the group gave a memorial to First Presbyterian Church in memory of Mary Warner a member who recently passed away.

The afternoon concluded with McCallum leading the group in the Club Collect.

CHEP program strengthens local family unit

Some 300 families each month in Granite City, Venice, Madison and Alton are being assisted in moving toward self-sufficiency by a program administered by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. The skills taught range from more effective use of the assistance available to entering school for training and education.

A classic "outreach" program that utilizes paraprofessionals from among the target group, the Consumer and Homemaking Education Program (CHEP) is operated under a grant from the Illinois State Board of Education.

Drusilla Andrews chapter hears origins of poppy

Members of Drusilla Andrews Chapter National Society Daughters of the American Revolution recently met in the home of Jidie Schatz.

Regent Linda Koenig opened with the Pledge of Allegiance. Members commented on the recent debates about the flag. It was noted that this year the Chicago Art Institute will not display the student flag exhibit which allowed patrons to walk on the flag.

Eighty percent of the funding is provided by the federal government.

For 19 years, CHEP has operated in Illinois, assisting more than 400,000 families with its grassroots-oriented approach. The CHEP teachers provide lessons in a variety of homemaking, nutritional and educational skills to clients.

Homemakers in the Quad-City area recently graduated from the program in ceremonies held at Venice Lincoln Technical Center. Also, volunteers who added in delivering education were honored.

CHEP teachers planned a celebration to give recognition to the homemakers and volunteers. Certificates and gifts were given along with words of encouragement from Shirley Blasingame, Venice-Lincoln Technical Center. Graduates from Granite City include:

Jerry Van Ness, Donna Kaminski, Gail Bivens, Brenda Donnell, James Thompson, Scott Ward, Bob Wheaton, William Ostresh, Dennis Mitchell, Larry Bachantini, Paul Blasingame, Marilyn Stuart, Dennis Peters, Earlene Robinson, Tina Dixoh, Rene Blake, John Boyer and Janet Walker.

Madison: Brenda O'Dell, DeDe Ellis, Doris Harrell, Carol Armstrong, Chrystal Harrell, Demeetra Kunst, Della Walker, and Carla Weathers.

Venice: Joyce Nagelmüller and Ramon Anderson. Lovejoy: Marshall Crawford. Volunteers recognized and the agencies they represent included — Emilie Wear, Mack Harrell, Pam Brown, and Phyllis Whitehead of Mental Health Services; Rev. Ralph Kier, First Presbyterian Church; W.C. Levora, ARCH; Kim Clark and Becky Wingerton, Headstart Program; Shirley Blasingame, LaDonna Shaffner and Selva Ashford, Venice-Lincoln Tech Center.

The CHEP staff congratulated the homemakers who graduated after two years in the program and we also take our hats off to the volunteers who have been generous with their time," said Janet Burnett, CHEP administrator in Madison County.

The president general's message was read by Audrey Sperry, and Marie Reinhardt presented a national defense report entitled "Preparedness is the Price of Peace," by Thomas Sowell, syndicated columnist. He discussed the need to keep up our military defenses to maintain the peace.

Sperry, who is conservation chairman, shared recycling information, and Margaret Bell, veteran patient chairman, reported on items the group delivered to the veterans home in Quincy.

The regent announced the Division VI meeting on June 8 at Altamont and the summer tea on July 12.

Sandy Wilkinson presented a program on the Memorial Poppy and its origin. Inspired by the poem, "In Flanders Fields" by Col. John McCrae, Moina Michael vowed to always wear the red poppy of Flanders Fields in remembrance of all who had died and lay buried there. As a volunteer for the YMCA, she promoted the poppy idea and eventually it was adopted at the National Convention of the American Legion in 1920. The poppy program is considered one of the most beneficial rehabilitation programs for veterans.

Others attending were Alvina Thurau, Louise Webb, Marge Hinker, Florence Woodward and Florence Simpson.

Obituaries

Gnoth

Norman J. Gnoth, 73, of Gillespie, formerly of Madison, died at 1:10 p.m. Tuesday, May 29, 1990, at St. Francis Hospital, Litchfield, where he had been a patient for two weeks.

He was born Nov. 20, 1916, in Madison and had lived here for many years.

Mr. Gnoth retired in 1982 from Dow Chemical Co., after working as an accountant at the former Madison plant and in Texas. He was World War II U.S. Army veteran, serving in the 105th Field Artillery.

Survivors include his wife, Marie (Dona) Gnoth, and a cousin, Orville Ganz of Granite City.

Visitation was held Wednesday at Kravanya Funeral Home in Gillespie. A funeral Mass was celebrated today at St. Simon and Jude Church in Gillespie, with the Rev. Larry Auda officiating. Burial was at Holy Cross Cemetery in Gillespie.

Bessie Harman

Harman

Bessie E. (Nemnich) Harman, 85, of Granite City, died at 9:20 a.m. Wednesday, May 30, 1990, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she had been a patient for one day. She lived the last nine years at Colonnades Nursing Home.

She was born July 31, 1896, in Irvine and was a retired machinist from Olin Corp. in East Alton. Mrs. Harman was a member of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers and was of the Baptist faith.

Survivors include two sons, Roland R. Smith of East Alton and Clyde Smith of Wood River; three daughters, Mrs. Alvin (Lorena) Kinkel of Collinsville, Betty (Betty) of Edwardsville, and Mrs. James (Joyce) Baker of Florissant, Mo.; 11 grandchildren; 14 great-grandchildren; and three great-great-grandchildren.

Preceding her in death were her husbands, Roy Smith and Foster Harman; one daughter, Mrs. William (Lynette) Hartman; and two sons, Roy Smith Jr. and Warren Smith.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday, at Irwin Chapel, 101 Madison Ave., with the Rev. Don Gambling officiating. Burial will be in Hagler Cemetery in Granite City.

Caldwell

William M. Caldwell, 79, of Brooklynn died at 6 a.m. Saturday, May 26, 1990, in the Greenville (N.C.) Garden Care Center.

Mrs. Caldwell was born Oct. 8, 1910, in Atlanta and had been a resident of the Metro East area for the past 75 years.

She is survived by her husband, Fred Boyd Caldwell of Brooklynn; a stepson, Nannon Cole of St. Louis; and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Norma Turner of St. Louis.

Graveside services will be held today, June 1, at 1:30 p.m. at National Cemetery, Jefferson Barracks, Mo., with the Rev. Robert Thomas officiating. Burial will follow. Officer Funeral Home, East St. Louis, is in charge of arrangements.

Trivia

The Granite City Police Department had 519 offenses reported in March 1990. Resulting from those were 222 arrests. The total arrest number for the month, including traffic, parking and other arrests, was 759.

lem with organized criminal activity in Kirkpatrick Homes.

But Lt. Dave Ruebhausen, a police department shift commander, said, "We've had a lot of problems out there recently, but it's not organized gang activity."

"They can't get along with each other well enough to get organized."

Organized or not, trouble seems to roam the beleaguered complex.

It struck again early Tuesday morning, Bryan Towery, 27, of the 2900 block of Pershing Boulevard was charged with aggravated assault, disorderly conduct and criminal damage to property in connection with an occurrence early Tuesday in the 4100 block of Kirkpatrick Homes.

Police responded to a report of a disturbance shortly after midnight at the apartment of Glen and Lillian Harris. Harris told police that Towery and three other men taunted him from outside.

When he went outdoors, he said, the men began throwing things at him. When Harris tried to get back inside, Towery allegedly hit him with a pipe and stabbed him in the hand.

When police arrived, all four alleged assailants ran away. Towery and another man got into a vehicle and were stopped at Propes Avenue and Henry Street.

Towery's companion, James

D. Cottrell, 25, of the 4700 block of Lake Drive in Pontoon Beach, was charged with disorderly conduct and criminal damage to property and released on $154 cash bail.

Towery, who was charged on an outstanding warrant for driving while his license was revoked, was charged with the same offense again as well as the other three charges. He was held in lieu of $714-cash bail.

A third man, Billy Joe Merchant, 17, of the 4500 block of Kirkpatrick Homes, was caught in the 2200 block of East 24th Street. He was charged with criminal damage to property and was released on $102 cash bail.

The fourth man got away. Harris, whose right elbow was shattered by the pipe, was treated and released at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Harris said he has been feuding with several people for weeks.

He said the men who assaulted him had thrown trash cans through his windows. He said a rumor was circulating in the neighborhood that a "contract" was being put out on him and his brother-in-law, Dave Smith.

City ordinance restricts Kirkpatrick Homes to residents only after 10 p.m., but that ordinance has not been enforced. One policeman said a department of 500 couldn't enforce the limit.

Granite City has approximately 150 police officers on three shifts.

Police Chief Don Knight said it is his policy to decline comment on the internal affairs of his department.

Wright joined the police department July 1, 1966. He served as the department's "Officer Friendly" from 1974 to 1977, when he was promoted to sergeant.

The rate plan is a result of a decision by the Illinois Commerce Commission, the agency regulating utilities, that Illinois Bell must cut revenues.

Many customers misunderstand the new rate structure because opponents have called it an increase, McCormick said. "We've met with customer apprehension because it is totally different," she said. "All along I've said, 'Just wait until you get the call summary in June. Then you'll know exactly.'"

The same plan was implemented two years ago in the Chicago area. "It made sense up there and it has worked," McCormick said.

Customers here will receive maps of the new local calling areas and an explanation of the new calling plan.

Illinois Bell has also set up toll-free numbers to handle customers' questions.

Residential customers can call 1-800-526-8408 and business customers can call 1-800-435-2200, McCormick said.

The new rate plan will not affect monthly line charges, touch-tone charges and fees for custom calling services.

Caster project progressing

GRANITE CITY — S.M. Wilson & Co., a general contractor and construction management firm, is nearing completion of construction contracts valued at more than $10 million on additions to Granite City Steel, a division of National Steel Corp.

S.M. Wilson is a subcontractor to Davy McKee Corp., the Pittsburgh-based firm that is serving as construction manager for the addition of a $120 million continuous slab caster.

Within a month, S.M. Wilson will have completed a year-long effort to install piling and concrete foundations for the Number Two Continuous Slab Caster, as the project is known.

More than 12,000 cubic yards of concrete foundations were needed to accommodate the 300-foot-long continuous slab caster, which occupies more than three acres at the plant.

"The immense size of the caster puts special requirements on the building and equipment foundations," said Jim Miller, project manager for S.M. Wilson.

"We drove nearly 900 piles to accommodate the heavy loadings on the foundations."

The addition of the continuous slab caster will eliminate a step in the steelmaking process. Traditionally, steelmaking entailed a two-step process, in which ingots are poured and then rolled through blooming mills to form slabs. With such casting, slabs of steel are cast in one step from a basic oxygen furnace.

As the slabs solidify, they are cut in 33-foot lengths and sent to either a slab ripping station or to a hot strip mill for further processing.

The continuous caster, Granite City Steel's second, is scheduled to become operational in December 1990.

The foundations package is one of several projects S.M. Wilson has recently completed for Granite City Steel.

Last month, the firm completed design and construction of a $3.5 million 22,500-square-foot steel mill building to house ripping stations where steel slabs from the caster are cut into specified widths prior to hot strip mill processing.

Major subcontractors to S.M. Wilson on the ripping facility included Stupp Brothers Bridge & Iron, steel fabricators; Kroeger Erection Co., steel erection; Dron Electrical Co. of Granite City, electrical; and Five Star Engineering & Mechanical Co., piping.

S.M. Wilson & Co., founded in 1921, is a diversified contracting company performing construction in the commercial, industrial, retail, multifamily, sewer, wastewater treatment and other markets.

unaware that the dollar volume was on shares sold in the 1985 public stock offering but that each share sold for $10 and he was aware of at least three persons in Granite City who bought $35,000 worth of the stock.

Another individual, also from Granite City, is thought to have purchased as much as $130,000 worth of the stock, the source said.

The source said he believes that many of the investors may have been under the mistaken impression that, like depositors in FSLIC, thrifts, investors were also protected from losses up to $100,000.

Many of those who invested in the stock were retirees, according to the source, who said, "They never dreamed they'd get hurt."

Marilyn Harris, a manager for the Granite City office of the association, who is continuing her responsibilities under the new First Bank of Illinois ownership, said she was unable to divulge the size of the stock offering and the amount of stock purchased without clearance from the RTC office in Kansas City.

The Bank of Edwardsville and the First Bank of Illinois in O'Fallon closed a transaction

May 18 in which the institutions bought up portions of the association. First Bank acquired the Granite City office and Bank of Edwardsville was the successful bidder for three branch offices.

Students bullish on stock market

Granite City High School teams captured second, third and fourth places in a regional stock market simulation sponsored by the Illinois Council on Economic Education this spring.

The prize-winning teams in the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville region were led by teacher-advisor Mel Bunting. Students worked to gain a greater understanding of economics through simulated trading in the

Parkview students work to aid DARE

Students in Nancy Bishop's third grade class at Parkview Elementary School have been saving aluminum cans and plastic milk containers to help support the DARE program.

Parkview students have been studying various drugs and their effect during the school year and wanted to help the educational anti-drug abuse program.

Through the collection project, the students also are becoming more aware of the various items that can be recycled, teachers said.

stock market.

The teams and their adviser received recognition and awards through the Office for Economic Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

In the SIUE region, 119 teams from 15 schools participated in the game. Statewide, 743 teams represented 100 schools. Each team invested an imaginary $100,000 in major U.S. common stocks. During the 10-week period, teams received weekly portfolios along with regional and state standings reports.

At the end of the 10th week, the portfolios were evaluated to find the top four teams in each region earning the most money on their initial investments.

The Magic House to honor top students

Topnotch students will be honored at The Magic House, St. Louis Children's Museum, during the week of June 19-24. Students with five or more "A's" (or equivalent grade) on their year-end report card, will be admitted free of charge.

Those with three to four "A's" will be admitted for $1; one or two "A's" will qualify for $1.50

"All participants win," said Dr. David A. Dieterle, president of the Illinois Council. "The Stock Market Game serves as an excellent teaching tool by introducing students to financial markets and how they affect, and are affected by, the world around us."

The Illinois Council, based at Northern Illinois University, works with school systems and teachers to develop materials that improve economic literacy in Illinois. The council maintains 10 centers around the state.

Information on the Stock Market Game and the work of the Illinois Council on Economic Education may be obtained by calling (815) 753-0354.

Elmore receives certificate during SIUC Honors Day program

Mary A. Elmore received a certificate for superior scholastic achievement on Honors Day at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Elmore is on the dean's list for the fall and spring 1989-90 semesters with a 3.88 average on a 4.0 scale.

She is listed in the 1988-89 National Dean's List Book and the 1989-90 edition of Outstanding College Students of America.

Elmore is currently working as a psychotherapist at Spectrum Youth and Family Services in Hoffman Estates.

He is the son of Mary Lou Allen and Dick Allen, both of Granite City.

Receives degree at Benedictine College

Dana Allen was recently awarded a master of science degree in counseling psychology from Illinois Benedictine College in Lisle, Ill., where he achieved a grade-point average of 3.5 on a 4.0 scale.

A GOOD SPORT: Helen Schmisser, the principal at Lake School, lost a bet with her students and spent the day in her housecoat and slippers with curlers in her hair. The bet was won when the students collected over a mile of pennies throughout the school year. The $877, which is how much the pennies are worth, was used for the school picnic. With Schmisser are some of her "kids." From left are Glenn Black, 7; Schmisser; Amy Coppedge, 9; Dennetta Boyd, 10; and (with back to camera) Noel Daily, 11.

GET THE FACTS: McGruff, the crime fighting dog, invites Mary Popmarkoff to "Get the Facts on Drugs" on Saturday at St. Elizabeth School, Pontoon and Johnson roads. The program is free and will feature displays, clowns, games, prizes and refreshments. Adults, young people and children from high school to kindergarten are invited to attend between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Granite City Elk's Lodge 1063 is sponsoring the event.

Wilson receives gifted award

Wendell Wilson Jr. of Venice is a 1990 candidate for a bachelor of arts degree in computer science at Aurora University.

Wilson also received the Black Student Association Young, Gifted and Black Award at the University's annual Student Awards Banquet on May 12. He is the son of Beverly Wilson of Lorain, Ohio.

Round 3: It's all Kahoks

Collinsville blanks Lady Warriors 3-0 to advance to state

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

COLLINSVILLE — The Lady Warrior soccer team was hoping that the script of the last two years wouldn't repeat itself in 1990. Tuesday was much different from 1988 and 1989, but Granite City wasn't any happier.

After battling the Collinsville Lady Kahoks on even terms before losing via penalty kicks in the sectional finals each of the last two seasons, the Lady Warriors were completely dominated from the opening kickoff to the final whistle as the Kahoks (13-5) rolled to a convincing 3-0 victory to advance to the state tournament for the third straight year. Senior Jamie Castillas had two goals and sophomore Lauren Nelson added two assists.

Collinsville will face Hoffman Estates (17-14) in a non-quarterfinal Friday in St. Charles. The Lady Warriors will hang up their uniforms for the summer knowing they were clearly the second best team on the field Tuesday.

"We had a great pre-game meeting and I thought we would have a good game," said Granite City coach Gene Baker. "But they beat us in every way. Collinsville has a good, strong team and I really think they can win it all this year."

Incredibly, the game looked

NSRF softball season in full swing

GRANITE CITY — The National Steel Recreational Facility (NSRF) began its first season of operations with the opening of its softball leagues April 25.

The NSRF is a 48-acre tract of land on the corner of East 23rd Street and Nameoki Road. It contains two softball fields with volleyball courts and horseshoe pits under construction. Full concession and restroom facilities are also available along with a huge parking area.

The NSRF is owned by the Granite City Division of the National Steel Corporation and under lease and management by the Granite City Steel Softball Association (GCSSA), a non-profit organization comprised entirely of Granite City Steel and Granite City Steel Credit Union employees. The goal of the GCSSA, according to president and director Mike Kmetz, is "to promote and encourage sports, recreation and benevolent activities within Granite City, Steel and the Granite City area."

"The weather played havoc with the first couple weeks of the softball season," Kmetz said. Kmetz said all games will be made up later in the season, once the weather has stabilized. Despite the bad spring weather, the summer softball tournament schedule looks impressive.

Memorial Day weekend was the start of a most unique slow-pitch softball tournament for women. Co-sponsored by the GCSSA and Miller Lite, the "Trips to Win Series" is really three tournaments in one, with each individual tournament a separate leg. Top finishers in each leg receive expense money plus points. The team which accumulates the most points receives a bonus. The second leg of the TWS is July 6-8 with the final leg to be held Aug. 3-5.

The weekend of June 15-17 brings some of the top men's teams to Granite City with the GCSSA NSA Men's Class A and lower Father's Day Tournament. Teams expected to compete include the St. Louis Rockets, Century Concrete and The Merchants from St. Louis, along with St. Clair Ground Crew from Illinois.

July 13-15 brings local industrial teams to Granite City for an NSA Industrial Qualifier. Teams will be trying to earn berths to this year's combined Missouri-Illinois State Tournament to be held at the NSRF on Aug. 17-19. The best industrial teams from

Tigers favored at sectional

Granite City will have one final dose of high school sports this weekend before summer vacation begins.

Varsity Field will be the site of the Granite City Class AA Baseball Sectional on Saturday and Monday, with the winner advancing to the Class AA State Tournament in Springfield on June 7-8.

Edwardsville will be favored to win the sectional after wrapping up the Edwardsville Regional with a 4-0 win over Jerseyville on Tuesday at the Edwardsville Sports Complex. Senior lefthander Tom Price pitched a four-hitter, striking out 12 and walking one in raising his record to 10-0 this year.

Price, heading for the University of Notre Dame, is 21-0 over the last two seasons and 29-1 for

Miners off to 5-1 start

The Corral Liqueur Miners are off and running to a 5-1 start. Granite City is 3-1 in the Min-Clear League and is tied for first in the Monroe Division with Valmeyer. The Miners split a double-header with East Alton on Sunday, winning the opener 5-1 before losing the nightcap 10-7.

Steve Bast picked up the win in the first game as Jimmie Hogan, Mike Robertson and Tim Greco all had two hits. Greco had his third home run of the year. Pick Clawson was the losing pitcher for the Bon-Air Silver Bullets.

Tim Black was the loser in the nightcap as he had control problems. John Moad had a home

The Joe Show

Wallace lands 15 school records

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — The following should serve as a reminder to all the major league baseball scouting departments making last-minute plans for the amateur draft next week.

Warrior catcher Joe Wallace finished his high school career Saturday holding 15 school records. When he officially graduates tomorrow night, he will leave as perhaps the finest baseball player in school history.

"Based on the records and the interest he generated from major league scouts, Joe has to be the No. 1 player I've ever coached," said Warrior coach Bob Stegemeier. "He did everything we could have expected of him."

Most of all, Wallace — named the Southwestern Conference Player of the Year as well as the first-team catcher sent Stegemeier scrambling for an eraser. He'll have plenty of work remaking the Warrior record book thanks to the 6-0, 180-pound receiver.

The record most sought after was Steve Trittschuh's single-season record of six home runs. Wallace broke that with a two-run homer off Belleville East's Reid Huber on May 17 and finished with 10 this year. In the process, Wallace hit 19 career home runs, far surpassing the 12 Trittschuh hit from 1981-83.

Trittschuh heads for Italy for the World Cup with four more of his records extinct. His most cherished was the single-season batting mark of .488 established in 1983. Wallace had 13 hits in his last 18 at-bats, lifting his average from .390 on May 10 to .492 (29 for 59). He came up in the sixth inning of Saturday's 13-4 loss to Jerseyville in the Edwardsville Regional with a .483 average and doubled to right-center to set the record. He was on deck when the game ended and the record would have been on the line once more.

"I thought Joe could hit .400 this year," said Stegemeier.

"Based on the records and the interest he generated from major league scouts, Joe has to be the No. 1 player I've ever coached. He did everything we could have expected of him."

—Bob Stegemeier
Warrior baseball coach

"And I wasn't underestimating him when I thought that. With the good pitching we see, hitting .492 is just outstanding."

Wallace also broke Trittschuh's single-season and career slugging percentage marks. He had 64 total bases in 69 at-bats this year for an incredible 1.085 average. Trittschuh slugged .872 in 1983. Wallace had a career percentage of .668 (Trittschuh slugged .628). His RBI percentage of 59 broke Trittschuh's mark of 53.

Other new records set by No. 13 included career RBIs (88, Todd Hinterser had 75 from 1985-87); career hits (104, Daren DeFew had 99 from 1980-82); career runs (85, Bob Batey had 84 from 1977-80); career at-bats (292, Jon Linhart had 286 from 1980-83); season at-bats (117 in 1988); career games (112, DeFew played in 107); doubles (24, Hinterser had 21); season on-base percentage (.61 percent this year. Batey was at 59 percent in 1980); and career hit-by-pitches (9, Jim Moulden was hit eight times from 1982-84).

If Stegemeier looks long enough, he could probably find many more records Wallace has broken. His career on-base percentage was .454 (158 for 348), but Tom Greco maintains the school record at 49 percent. Wallace's 348 career plate appearances fell one short of the record shared by DeFew and Batey. He only struck out 39 times in 348 plate appearances, which isn't a record, but is a very good percentage for a power and RBI man. He drew 45 walks (DeFew had 64).

Wallace's .356 career batting average leaves him tied for 10th on the all-time Granite City list with DeFew. Greco leads the way at .423.

"I hope he signs a pro contract," said Stegemeier. "I think playing ball is his first priority, and that's what he really wants to do."

Wallace is tabbed for now as a third- to fourth-round draft choice next week. He has signed a letter of intent to play college baseball at Oklahoma State, but would lose his matches in Granite City. Meanwhile, the Lady Kahoks wasted little time. Senior Missy Halbrooks broke through the defense in the first minute and shot just wide. But she got another chance at 5:51 as she knocked in a rebound while standing at the right post. Nelson's booming shot from the left wing bounced off the crossbar to Halbrooks, and Lady Warrior freshman keeper Stephanie Kult had no chance.

There was one similarity between Tuesday and the previous two years. Halbrooks scored what proved to be the winner, and she had scored the decisive penalty kicks to send the Kahoks to state in 1988 and 1989.

The general consensus Tuesday was not so much that the Lady Warriors didn't want to win, but that Collinsville wanted it more.

"We have a lot more seniors (nine), and they have the incentive," said Collinsville coach Andy Kosberg. "Granite City just has (three) seniors on the roster and maybe they didn't feel the urgency to get it done this year that we did."

The Kahoks domination continued to the end, although the Lady Warriors did have a slight territorial advantage early in the third quarter. But Collinsville put things away at 57:26 by heading in Nelson's corner kick. Casillas wrapped up the scoring at 70:53 by taking an excellent through pass from sophomore Caryn Chasteen — who transferred from Metro East Lutheran this year. Casillas moved down left wing and blasted a perfect shot to the far corner.

"Stephanie played well in goal," said Baker after Kult had made 16 saves. "But Collinsville really turned it around from the last game (a 2-0 Warrior win on May 7 in Granite City)." "Offense is the way to win games," said Kosberg. "We kept the pressure on the whole game, and I think (Monday's) game took a lot out of Granite City. And I didn't think we played poorly in Granite City. They just got a couple of quick goals, and we were also missing (junior fullback) Mindy Holcomb for that game."

The Kahoks are completely healthy now, including senior keeper Julie Cortie, who had a ligament tear in her knee and was feared out for quite a while. Jennifer Schuetz was in the nets for Collinsville's 2-1 overtime win over Alton in Monday's semifinal, but Corrie returned Tuesday. She was barely tested. "It's by far the easiest game I've ever had against Granite City," she said. "All our fullbacks were just great."

"The rest of the girls will do just about anything for Julie," said Kosberg. "And just knowing she was really helped us going in. We're 100 percent now health-wise for the state tournament."

The 20-2 shot count seemed unbelievable. But it was all too real. "Unfortunately, it's very believable," said Baker. "We tried to do things with Casillas and (Amy) Blackford, but they were too strong tonight. Our girls gave it their best. Amanda Witter was up and down the field all night. But we didn't play very well last night, either (the Lady Warriors had to go to penalty kicks to eliminate Springfield Sacred Heart in the quarterfinals)."

"One big difference from the last game was our throw-ins. They were very destructive when we beat them, but we missed Carrie Ross tonight. It was a real tough decision to make, but it was fair for the whole team."

Ross, along with fellow seniors Shelly Reynolds and April Druhe, weren't on the post-season roster because they indicated a graduation ceremony tomorrow night. As it is, the seniors who remained on the roster (Julie Deprey, Jennifer Moniz and Beth Epperson) will be here to participate as well.

Both teams had one corner kick and the foul count was even (11 for Collinsville, 10 for the Lady Warriors). "This team was not created by me," said Kosberg, in his first year after succeeding Dave Jenkins. "There was an incredible amount of talent to work with, and they all matured at one time. I won't take any credit. Now they know this is their last chance to do something at state." college eligibility if he signed a pro contract.

NOTES: Oklahoma State won its regional last week and will take a 53-16 record into the College World Series. The Cowboys will play Fullerton State (36-21) in their first game Saturday in Omaha, Neb. Warrior senior outfielder Brian Harshany joined Wallace on the SWC first team. Harshany hit .353 with eight home runs, 24 RBIs and an .853 slugging percentage. Senior pitcher Rich Schardan (5-2, 2.25 ERA) and junior first baseman Dan Partney (.381, 3 HR, 16 RBI) made the second team.

Schardan was also also an honorable mention choice at shortstop, while junior second baseman Jim McKeenan and senior outfielder Chad Lignoul were honorable mention as well. Warrior junior Dan Brazee, who placed fourth in the high jump at the state track meet last weekend, was named the all-SWC high jumper. Senior Andy Wolf and junior Rafi Karibian, who went to state as a doubles team, were all-conference choices in tennis.

run and three RBIs for the Miners. Black had pitched a four-inning no-hitter as Granite City blasted Troy 21-0 last Wednesday in Metro East Night League action. Jamie Hogan hit for the cycle in that game.

The Miners followed that last Thursday with a 14-13 win at Sauget over the Wizards. It was the first time Granite City has ever beaten the Wizards. They were 0-6 against the Mon-Clair and Night League champions in 1989. Karl Archer of McCluer North High School and Lewis and Clark Community College had two home runs for the Miners and Robertson also homered.

Darin Hendrickson got the win and Tim Archer got the save for Granite City, which had a 13-4 lead before hanging on. Scott Brown was the losing pitcher for the Wizards.

The Miners played at East Alton on Wednesday and play at Edwardsville tonight (7:25) in another Night League game. Granite City will host Brooklyn in a makeup Mon-Clair double-header Saturday, then host Sauget on Sunday in the regularly-scheduled double-header Sunday at 1:30 p.m. (Maxville Field).

scheduled for 4 p.m. Monday. Jerseyville starter Mike Lawrence (4-2) escaped trouble in the first two innings Tuesday and retired the first two in the third. But Price walked, Mark Little singled and Edwardsville catcher J.J. Scerba followed with a two-run double to right. First baseman Greg Morrison followed with an RBI single. Scerba singled, stole second and scored on Dave Stiemmer's single in the sixth.

Price allowed only five balls to leave the infield and no Jerseyville player got farther than second base. The Panthers had eliminated Granite City 13-4 in Saturday's semifinal.

"I hope he can win a couple more games for us before he goes to Notre Dame," Tiger coach Tom Pile said of Price.

Joe Blasingim (7-0) will probably pitch Saturday's game for Edwardsville, with Price scheduled to go Monday if the Tigers win Saturday.

Missouri and Illinois will converge on Granite City hoping to earn the right to advance to the Industrial World Series to be held in Austin, Tex., on Sept. 16.

Plans are also in the making to place signs on the outfield fence of each field. Signs will lease for $250 per year with a five-year lease.

Programs will also be printed up to be distributed to teams competing in the Men's Industrial State Championship along with the Girls State and Regional Fast-Pitch championships. Businesses can place an ad in each one for anywhere from $25 a quarter page to $100 for a full page ad.

If any business is interested in the lease of a sign or placement of an ad in one of the programs, call the NSRF at 876-1431. If there is no answer, leave a message. The NSRF is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Leagues are in action Monday through Thursday with tournaments on weekends.
